

CLIENT: FORSYTHS
PROJECT: CONFINED SPACE AUDIT AND TRAINING

CLIENT CHALLENGE:

Forsyths manufacture a range of industrial equipment. This involves confined space activities both in workshops and on sites. They required an operational audit and training for staff to ensure they safely and effectively carry out work in confined spaces.

AQUATERRA SOLUTION:

AquaTerra carried out an audit that helped identify gaps and pull together a clear plan for improvement. We then used our Mobile Confined Space Training Unit to deliver industry-recognised training for working safely in confined spaces.

TESTIMONIAL:

“AquaTerra offered a wealth of knowledge, that we simply do not have in-house, their audit helped us improve the safety and effectiveness of our work in confined spaces.

The Mobile Confined Space Training Unit then offered a more realistic and practical experience for our teams. They received exposure to potential risks and they had to think on their feet to resolve them safely. The training with this unit is invaluable as it prepares staff better than anything else for the real thing. This is by far the best training they get.

Their people are very experienced and knowledgeable but are also very helpful and easy to do business with. They offer great flexibility to meet our requirements and schedules.”
